Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

THE WAR —

The Germans have cut down their air losses the past month by using different tactics over England. Since September 15, the day the Nazis lost 185 planes in massed bombing raids over London they have held back the big, slow bombers for the most part. Attacks are now made by swarms of fast Messerschmitt fighters equipped with light bombs. These strike quickly and wheel away for their bases. No big bags have lately been reported by the British.

* * *

Sunday the British RAF carried out a series of sledge hammer blows against Nazi invasion ports dropping tons of bombs on German shipping and munition dumps. At the same time Berlin was given a thorough going over and industrial cities in the north of Italy were bombed.

* * *

Prime Minister Churchill in a speech Monday night declared Britain would win supremacy of the air in 1941. His address which was directed at France but broadcast around the world, castigated Hitler and labeled Mussolini "a hungry little dog". Part of the speech delivered in French was garbled as the Nazis jammed the air waves over which it was sent.

* * *

War is more heard than seen in London, according to a correspondent to the Associated Press. Sounds of bursting bombs, droning planes and crackling machine gun fire fill the ears and less often do residents of London see the attackers or the destruction wrought upon the city.

* * *

Nazis have complained bitterly this week of "terrorist" acts of British bombers that have heavily bombarded Berlin. Thousands of German children are being evacuated from the city as the inhabitants become aware Hitler's promises were vain that the British could not touch their capital.

* * *

Turkey and Russia are believed by some military observers to be drawing closer together as the threat of an Axis drive through the Balkans continues. Turkey has been moving large forces up to the Dardenelles and the Turks are showing a firm front to Hitler and Mussolini. Yugo -Slavia having signed a new trade pact with Germany has been counted out of the area of resistance to the dictators, but Greece so far has not backed down and Turkey is promising her aid.

POLITICAL —

President Roosevelt, deserting his attitude of aloofness to the campaign spoke at a non-"defense" meeting at Philadelphia last night. He will address four other meetings before the end of the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt said he was starting to campaign openly because of the opposition's "deliberate falsification of facts."

* * *

Wendell Willkie pushing his untiring campaign for election is crossing and recrossing the great vote producing area of the middle west and east. He spoke at Milwaukee Monday night and Chicago Tuesday night. Last night he spoke in New York on the Herald-Tribune Forum over a national hook-up. Cutting back into the middle west Thursday he will return to New York Friday speaking at Elmira in the afternoon.

* * *

Al Smith made the first of three speeches in support of Wendell L. Willkie last night in the Brooklyn Academy of Music. The speech was broadcast nationally under the auspices of the Democrats for Willkie. Smith ran for president on the Democratic ticket in 1928, but is a bitter foe of the New Deal.

* * *

Upon learning that his party had hired the only large hall in Baltimore on a night the President might speak in that city, Willkie offered to share the platform with him. Roosevelt, through his secretary turned down the offer thus avoiding the face to face debate the Republican nominee has sought since the campaign opened.

* * *

Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan predicted the election of Willkie this week, calling the "inspection tour" business a "pretty racket". The Michigan man said that Willkie would be the first World War buck private to enter the White House.

Emil Hurja, former secretary of the Democratic National Committee has picked Willkie to win the quadrennial vote derby. Hurja, a wizard

Addison Injured in Hospital Recovering

The condition of Addison injured in Corning Hospital continues to improve according to late reports Thomas Hopper, injured when his hand caught in a machine in the Ingersoll-Rand plant, will lose three fingers of his hand. It was at first thought complete amputation would be necessary.

Reuben Brown, injured in the same plant when a scaffolding broke is still in pain from injuries to his legs, arms and side, but he is improving.

The many friends of both men will be pleased to hear this heartening news.

Willkie Special Through Addison 1:40 P. M. Friday

The Wendell L. Willkie special train will make only one stop in Steuben County Friday and that will be in Hornell, division point of the Erie where train crews are changed. The long special train is expected to leave Hornell about 1:10 Friday afternoon. With average running time of the Limited, it should be in Addison around 1:40 o'clock Friday afternoon. It is expected that a large delegation of local Republicans will be on hand to see the special and to try to catch a glimpse of Mr. Willkie. The only stop after Hornell will be in Elmira.

District School Teachers Ass'n Meets Tonight

Tuscarora - Lindley school teachers will meet in the Freeman Grange Hall tonight, Thursday, for a dinner and business meeting. The teachers of the two districts have an association which meets for sociability and exchange of ideas. Mrs. Bessie Nichols will have charge of dinner arrangements with the assistance of Michael Brennan and Miss Eleanor Toby.

Seeley Speaks to Addison Dair[illegible]

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Titus, Lindley, entertained the members of the Addison local of the Dairymen's League at a pancake and sausage supper last Friday night. There were about 20 members of the local present. District Director, Herbert Seeley of Knoxville outlined the strike situation in northern New York and gave some of the background behind the movement which ended last week at a conference in Utica.

Addison Registers 1589 Voters

Registration reached a high peak in Addison as 739 registered in the second district and 850 registered in the first district making a total of 1589 registered in the Town of Addison. This is a large percentage of the voting residents of the town and shows the industry of the party leaders, the interest in the election and the desire of people to exercise their franchise.

Democrats Hang Banner Over Main Street

The Addison Democratic committee has erected a Roosevelt banner over Main street. The banner hangs between the Fred Frost store and the Doddato Block. There is now a Willkie-McNary banner and a Roosevelt banner hung over the Main street for all to see.

JURORS CHOSEN

The initiatory degree will be conferred on John some time before the Thanksgiving holiday. He is a freshman in the Farm Machinery School.

He is a graduate of Addison High School, where he was prominent in athletic circles. After graduation he served as printer in the Advertiser shop until he entered college this fall.

Baptist Ladies Held Successful Bazaar-Supper

Baptist women worked hard to make their bazaar and harvest supper a success Saturday and realized several dollars for their efforts. The money will be expended for activities of the Ladies Aid Society and the Taber Class in connection with church promotional work. The Ladies Aid women were in charge of the bazaar and rummage sale in the church parlors throughout the afternoon and the Taber class ladies were in charge of the harvest supper, an annual affair with the members of the class.

September Milk Price Up 11c

N. J. Cladakis, market administrator of the Federal-State Orders regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan marketing area, reports that dairy farmers delivering milk to plants in Steuben County had 5,887,994 pounds of net pooled milk during September. This was an increase of 38.3 per cent from September 1939. On the basis of the uniform price of $1.92 announced for September, this milk had a total value of $113,049.48.

The uniform price is the price announced for milk of 3.5 per cent butterfat test delivered to plants in the 201-210 mile zone from New York City. It is subject to adjustments for butterfat content and for freight for other zones. Handlers subject to the Federal-State Orders are required to pay for this milk on or before October 25.

The uniform price computation for the month of September involved a total of 400,034,070 pounds of milk for which handlers were required to pay $8,636,906.77 plus the sum of $22,026.16 for premiums to nearby producers.

Approximately 53 per cent of the September milk was used for Class I or fluid milk and 17 per cent was used for Class 11-A or fluid cream. The remainder was used for making various milk products.

Fluid milk sales for September on a daily basis were approximately 8 per cent greater than for August 1940 and approximately 1 per cent greater than for September 1939.

Total deliveries on a daily basis were about 9 per cent less than for August.

HOUSE AUXILIARY DANCE

Phoenix Hose Auxiliary members will sponsor a dance in the village hall Wednesday night of next week. This will be an informal Hallowe'en party. There will be round and square dancing.

History Features DAR Meeting

Mrs. Fred G. Clark was hostess to the women of Onwentsia Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution last Friday afternoon at her home. A varied program was given during the session. After the meeting the women adjourned to the Eagle Hotel for supper and then returned to Mrs. Clark's for a social program. Mrs. Clark was assisted by Miss Helen Smith and Mrs. Frances Hoyt as assistant hotesses.

The business meeting was featured by papers on the history of the local and national chapters prepared by Miss Jessica Turner and Mrs. William Baron. Miss Smith read a prepared paper on the Constitution and Mrs. Irving Gladstone spoke of "American Music"

Hunters Still Seek Elusive Pheasants

Hunters, hunters and then more hunters took to the fields Monday and Tuesday looking for the elusive pheasants and small game. But the game was smart apparently, for Game Warden Ray S. Reed checked on the take around the vicinity and could find where only eight young pheasants and one rabbit had been taken. A local farmer stated there were about 40 hunters on his place awaiting the opening time for the hunting season, but he heard only two shots fired throughout Monday.

Tuesday no birds were observed in the hands of the returning hunters.

Benjamin Dickerson Hurt When Thrown by Horse

Benjamin Dickerson, employed by Edgar Dann on the Dann farm, upper Grove street, is recuperating from injuries received last Thursday night when he was dragged 20 feet by a horse. The animal had freed itself from a lead rope. Mr. Dickerson chased it, caught the rope. The animal became frightened according to Mr. Dickerson and jerked the rope, throwing Mr. Dickerson about 20 feet. He landed on his right wrist and broke two bones. His arm is mending slowly.

K. Mattison Entertains Classmates at Roast

Kenneth Mattison entertained members of his class in school and faculty members at a weiner roast at the Mattison Farm, Catherine Creek road Monday night. Methodist Group United For Church Service

The Women's Christian Service Society has absorbed the Missionary and Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church in Addison as it has in many other communities. The plan is to coordinate all the work of the women under one general organization with subdivisions. This is a carrying out of the plan proposed at the union of the three major Methodist groups in the United States last year.

Twenty two women met in the Methodist Church here last Thursday and after a picnic dinner, the women perfected the new organization. Mrs. Binona F. Short, Mrs. Nina Sprague Miller and Mrs. George Freeman were appointed a committee to present a slate of officers to be elected at a meeting Thursday, October 24 when Mrs. Frank H. Smith will be hostess. There will be a picnic dinner at noon on that day also.

The women of the Women's Christian Service Society hope to enroll every woman of the congregation in the newly formed organization in order that more work may be done for the church and for the societies and individuals in the church here.

The outline o fthe proposed constitution, aims and projects for the newly created organization were outlined by the Rev. Nicholas Cossaboon, pastor of the church.

Junior Grangers Prepare Drill for Pomona

Junior Grangers will make their first public appearance before Pomona Grange in Addison on Wedesday night, November 6. The young people have a drill team which is preparing for the event. Mrs. Sheldon Stewart is in charge of the drill work. Juvenile Grange Master eLo Troy, Jr., is assisting.

Those who comprise the team are: Marjory and Grace Ryal, Eileen, Florence and Wanda Butler Mary Elaine Hess, Joyce Jones, Virginia Ford, Patricia O'Reilly, Carrie Jean Pierson, Keith Jones, Richard Archer, Elmer Bovee, Jr., Merle Robbins and Master Troy.

PENNY HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Members of the Girls Friendly Society of the Episcopal Church will hold a penny Hallowe'en party in the Guild Hall of the Church of the Redeemer Tuesday night. The young ladies assist in church activities under the direction of Miss Ida Haweeli.

Three Addisonites On County Legion Aux. Committees

Mrs. William Kennedy of Addison was named chairman of the Steuben County American Legion Auxiliary committee on rehabilitation by County President Mrs. Esther M. Poitras, according to the list of county committee members prepared this week. Mrs. Amos Stiker, also of this village has been named historian of the Steuben County Auxiliary. The program of the county group will be under the direction of Mrs. Horace E. Auringer, also of Addison. These are three important committees in in the Auxiliary and the confidence placed in the local women comes in recognition of their abilities and also as a tribute to the Addison Auxiliary.

GILLET CLUB TUESDAY

Gillet Club members of the Presbyterian Church will meet next Tuesday night in the church parlors for a supper and informal program. President John Hopper will preside at the business meeting which will follow the picnic supper at 6:30. There will be a game program after the devotionals and supper.

NO COMMUNISTS HERE

There were 220 signatures to the Communist Petition for Earl Browder for President in Steuben County. It is noteworthy that none of these signatures were of Addison people. Hornell led the county with 140 and Corning was second with 53. Canisteo contributed 22 and Cameron four and one was found in Painted Post.

Poetry of Mrs. Elsie Brown Published in Anthology

Mrs. Elsie Brown, 41 Farnham street, has submitted a poem, "Home of My Dreams" which has been accepted for publication in a Christmas anthology for 1940. The poem was submitted in competition for a $50 prize. The poem was accepted for publication. A poem, "Spring Thoughts" written by Genevieve Brown, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Brown, was also accepted for publication.

Works of Mrs. Brown have appeared in previous anthologies including the World's Fair and "The Clarion. Mrs. Brown, wife of George Brown, is the mother of four children. She has long been a resident of Addison.

Mrs. Brown has always been interested in writing and in people. She also believes all should have a faith in Christ and expresses this in her writings.

KNEPLEYS ENTERTAIN

Miss Elizabeth Herrington was entertained at a buffet supper given by the Misses Ellen and Beatrice Knepley at their home, Front street, Friday night. The affair was in the nature of a birthday party for the guest of honor. Season flowers and a birthday cake formed the decorations for the buffet and table.

First Snow Flurry of Year Came Saturday

The first snow of the season fell in Addison Saturday morning. The snow was accompanied by subfreezing temperatures which continued through Sunday and the first days of the week. "The frost was on the pumpkin" throughout the countryside. In fact not only the frost but snow covered many of the fields on the surrounding hills Monday morning.

Light snows continued throughout Monday, but at no time were they covering the ground with white.

Red Cross Roll Call Begins November 11

Plans are nearing completion for the annual Red Cross roll call and drive for funds in this village under the direction of Elmer C. Bovee, chairman of the local branch chapter. Many of the workers who have assisted in the home canvas during past years have signified their intention of assisting Mr. Bovee again this year. Mrs. Maude Chart has been appointed vice chairman by Mr. Bovee, a position she held last year. The drive will begin Armistice Day throughout the country and will be concluded in most communities by Thanksgiving Day.

SENIOR BAKE SALE

Seniors of Addison High School realized a good sum towards their Easter vacation trip to Washington, by virtue of a bake sale held Saturday. The young people worked hard to make this a success. They had a complete line of home baked pies, cakes and cookies as well as other dainties.

Carl Terwilliger Attacked by Bull

Carl Terwilliger, Tuscarora street, narrowly escaped serious injuries or even death last Thursday morning when attacked by an enraged bull on the Vastbinder farm.

Mr. Terwilliger is a cattle buyer in this vicinity. He was in the barn looking over some cattle when the bull attacked him from the rear, striking Mr. Terwilliger in the back. The animal chased him outside the barn and managed to pin him to the ground.

The injured man shouted for help and Mr. Wright and the farm dog came running. The bull left the scene of his conquest. Mr. Wright took the injured man to a doctor in his car. First aid was administered and Mr. Terwilliger treated for shock. The injured man was ordered to bed to recuperate and his condition is reported as excellent at the present time.

Weather Still Favors Bridge Contractor

Work is progressing rapidly on the Main street bridge according to engineers in charge of the project for the E. W. Foley, Inc., successful bidders on the contract for the construction of the local project.

The favorable weather of the past few weeks has enabled a great deal of work to be done, especially with concrete. The forms have been removed from the soth abutment which is now complete and are being used on the north abutment, which will probably be complete this week as the base was set last week-end.

With the approach abutments completed it is expected that steel will begin to arrive and the old Main street bridge, which is on wood props in the river, will be removed.

ATTEND CORNELL GAME

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Colburn and daughter, Frances were at the Cornell-Syracuse football game Saturday. Their son and brother, William is a member of the Cornell band. Also attending from Addison were Publisher Maurice E. Miller and daughter Louise, Attorney Charles L. Crane and Harry Mullen. All had very definite loyalties in the game with Messrs. Crane and Mullen cheering for Syracuse and all others proud of Cornell.

Protect Children- Do not Use Gun In Village

Hunters are asked not to try their skill with guns within the corporate limits of the village. In fact if they are caught shooting firearms in the village they may be subject to arrest and fines. There is a local ordinance prohibiting the use of firearms in the village.

The ordinance is not to stop hunters primarily, but to protect children who may be wandering about and also dogs and cats. A case recently came to light where a hunter on the northern hills fired in thedirection of the village and shot struck a house. Children playing about might have been injured.

53rd Wedding Anniversary Observed by Thompsons

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thompson, Farnham street, observed the 53rd anniversary of their wedding last Friday at their home. There was no undue observance of the day owing to the condition of both, as they are both ill. However, they were remembered by many friends on the occasion. The people of the community join in wishing them both well and many more years of happiness together.

Rebekahs Install Officers Tonight

The installation of officers of Addison Rebekah Lodge will take place tonight, Thursday in Odd Fellow's Hall. Mrs. Jennie Mose will be normally installed as Noble Grand Mrs. Pearl Smith, district deputy president, and her staff from Greenwood will install. A banquet will precede the ceremonies of the evening. Others who will be installed with Mrs. Mose are: Vice Grand, Mrs. Mary Hess; financial secretary, Mrs. Anna Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Beers; treasurer, Mrs. Goldie Seeley.

WHO CONCEIVED THE 'SMEAR WILLKIE' CAMPAIGN?

Coming from a White House conference on June 29, the day after Wendell L. Willkie was nominated, James A. Farley said:

"The nomination greatly clarifies the issue before the nation—which is a good thing. The question is, of course, what set of forces, economic or social, are to conduct our government—the historic American processes or some new and somewhat foreign methods of concentrated control".

Was Farley giving voice to White House thought?

The very same day, Speaker Bankhead said:

"The nomination of Mr. Willkie provides a clear-cut division between the two major parties. If the voters wish to place the Executive in the control of forces which are somewhat foreign to our usual American way of life and which will doubtless dominate the actions of the Republican nominee, they have a reasonable right to do so in November."

Such similar subtile suggestions of foreign influence sprang from the same root for the President in his acceptance speech on July 19, said:

"If our government should pass to other hands next January — untried hands, inexperienced hands—we can surely hope and pray that they will not substitute appeasement and compromise with those who seek to destroy all democracies everywhere, including here".

The "smear seed" had been well planted when Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, appropriately enough, sprouted the seed in the hotbed of his speech accepting the nomination for the Vice-Presidency August 29:

"I do not wish to imply that the Republican leaders are willfully and consciously giving aid and comfort to Hitler. But I wish to emphasize that the replacement of Roosevelt, even if it were by the most patriotic leadership that could be found, would cause Hitler to rejoice".

Wallace received a telegraphic pat on the head when the President wired him the same day:

"A grand speech and splendidly given . . . you have made a glorious start."

On September 30, the leafing "smear plant" was fertilized by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, in his address to the Democratic state convention, when he said:

"Let there be no mistake about this: Nothing that could happen in the United States could give Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin and the government of Japan more pleasure than the defeat of . . . Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Four days later the President himself, at his press conference, took his hoe in hand and did a bit of "smear" cultivating by reading a dispatch from the New York Times' correspondent in Rome stating that the Axis was "out to defeat Mr. Roosevelt".

That New Dealers, from the throne-room to the gutter, are deliberately and maliciously seeking to inject Hitler's name into the campaign, and to imply that a vote for Willkie is a vote for Hitler, should be plain to all. The progressive growth of the smear has been constant and consistent and only those whose integrity is dulled by selfish interest, or those whose honesty of intellect is blinded by this attachment to Mr. Roosevelt, can fail to see and to recognize this most contemptible bit of political skulldrudgery.

DELICATE DIPLOMACY NEEDED

Not since 1860, when the nation elected Lincoln, a Republican, to lead them in the war which was to preserve the nation, has there been a more important election than that which falls on November 5, 1940. Not even the 1916 election can compare in a cosmic sense, or in a practical way, with the importance of this presidential election.

In 1916 the cry was "reelect Wilson—he's kept us out of war!" It is history now that a few months later Wilson led this nation into the other World War.

Just now, in this pre-election period, both political parties are precariously maintaining a truce as regards American foreign policy. But it must be clear to all that once the ballots have been cast, counted and the winner certified, then America's real course of action in world affairs will begin.

There is an amazing consensus of privately expressed opinion that America ultimately will become involved in the war, no matter who is elected, because the force of events has been and is driving this country into a position which may become untenable without resort to arms.

The conduct of the other nations already involved in the war, and causes beyond our control, will eventually decide whether or not we can maintain our formal neutrality and avoid active participation in armed conflict.

We are in a most hazardous position. To avoid plunging our nation into war after November 5, if not before, will require delicate diplomacy, great skill and the keenest desire to avoid meddling in foreign affairs. There can be no bungling or fumbling if we are to sustain our prestige, surrender no rights of moment, and still have peace.

Voters should seriously, yes prayerfully, consider which of the two candidates will be most likely to preserve American peace and American democracy.

A REAL EMBARGO NEEDED

Informed Americans are waking up to the fact the embargo on scrap iron and high test gasoline against Japan, is one of those examples of locking the door and leaving one side of the barn torn open. The embargo does not shut off crude oil so essential to the Jap war machine for Diesel engines. Further, it does not prevent export of pig iron and steel rails to the Nipponese and this steel is especially important in the construction of their war plant.

Today we have some 12 battleships in the Pacific to face the ten belonging to Japan. Our Navy men are supremely confident American warships are today far superior in effective gun fire to the Jap ships. Behind the scenes they are urging that, if we are to fight Japan—to do it now. There are two strong reasons for this desire for a showdown by our Navy. At present the British control the Atlantic and we can safely turn our backs upon that, but a Nazi victory might give the Axis the British fleet to throw against us, which would be the signal for Japan to attack us on the west while we were trying to defend our Atlantic coastline. Moreover, Japan started naval expansion sooner than we and they have under construction some battleships of 40 or 45 thousand tons. They have four capital ships due to be commissioned in 1942 and those four vessels might give them a balance of naval power in the Pacific.

Laying aside the question of deliberately seeking war with Japan (that is not our historical way of getting along with other nations) we can little afford to leave the barrier down which allow pig iron and steel rails to flow across the Pacific to build the Japanese war machine. All steel and iron shipments should be immediately cut off from the Japs, not alone to hamstring their war of aggression on China, but to interrupt their program of outbuilding the American Navy. Shut off ALL steel and iron from Japan and see how quickly work would stop on their big new battleships.

WE ARE INDICTED—"VOTE SLACKERS"

A letter has come to this editorial desk from the editor of the New York Mirror which indicts the voters up-state for thinking so little of their rights they do not get out to vote. The letter points out, quite truthfully, that Thomas E. Dewey would be Governor of New York if the up-state voters had turned out to support him the way the Democrats turned out in the Metropolis to elect Mr. Lehman.

There is much truth in this indictment. Voters west of the Hudson River are shamefully neglectful to their duty and privilege and many do not bother to go to the polls in important elections. Every American physically able to go to the polls should hang his head in shame if he fails to exercise the right of franchise. It is the one inherent right of a citizen of this Republic today, to cast his ballot for the cause he believes to be right. To fail in that duty is to invite the catastrophe to our shores which has engulfed nearly all the rest of the so-called civilized world.

Today strange and sinister forces are at work. Yet today we still can go into a voting booth and register our preference for a candidate without coercion in the wide expanse of the Empire State. To keep that freedom, to pass it on to our children is not only our right, it is our great duty which must be fulfilled. It is of paramount importance to every citizen to cast his vote this year and thus preserve the greatest right of a free man. Let us not deserve the title of "vote slacker" thrown at us from the resident of this state who lives in our largest city. We let these citizens control our destinies because they get out the vote while we sit back and brood. It MUST NOT happen this year!

NEW DEAL VICTORY MEANS NATIONAL SOCIALISM

According to Senator Taft, bills are ready for introduction in Congress by New Dealers should Roosevelt win, to establish a federal education department and for the socializing of medicine and dentistry.

Mr. Willkie has gone on record as being unalterably opposed to the socialization of the professions, while Mr. Roosevelt has stated in no uncertain terms that he favors a program of socialized health service.

While there is much more at stake in this election than just the matter of federal control of the teaching and health-services professions, still these are extremely important straws indicating the direction in which the New Deal wind blows.

With the SEC clearly headed toward supervision of insurance companies, and consequent control of the enormous pool of private savings represented by investments of the insurance companies, it becomes transparently obvious that "New Deal" and "National Socialism" are synonymous terms.

THE CHARGE OF THE SMEAR BRIGADE . . .

COMMENT By THE OBSERVER

On November 5 the American people will elect a manager for 4 years to run the affairs of the largest business on earth. There are two candidates for the job. One has managed the business for about 8 years, at a loss of billions of dollars. He wants to keep his job for 4 years more, possibly 8 years, perhaps longer but will not discuss the issues of the campaign. He says: Trust me. I can't explain it all to you. You wouldn't understand. Perhaps ten years from now the archives will explain, but for the present you must trust me. You must believe that I am indispensable.

* * *

The other candidate, a business man of wide experience, whose record for sound management stands unchallenged, says: "I stand for the restoration of full production and reemployment by private enterprise in America. . . . The purpose of government is to make men free . . . unemployed men are not free. This year's campaign is not merely to determine what system of government we shall have. It is to determine whether or not the system of free enterprise under a democracy shall be preserved."

* * *

The choice made by the people will determine the future well-being of every man, woman and child in America.

* * *

The New York World-Telegram says: "The two-fisted spender is always popular . . . until the guests discover they will have to pay the bill. Mr. Roosevelt has been giving a party and the check hasn't arrived . . . the one we are now on is the most elaborate in all history. The total check is 45 billions. What ever we have had to eat, drink and be merry, including the ample crumbs we have thrown from the table, is an account yet to be settled . . . passed on to us and our posterity. To visualize the size of that 45-billion debt, let's consider what just one billion means: If $1,000 a day were paid, starting 500 years before Christ, there would be $108,897,000 still due, as of today to exhaust that one billion."

* * *

Are the voters ready to O.K. the bill and give the "go ahead" spending-signal for 4 years more?

* * *

Vote on November 5 if it's the last thing you ever do.

Contempory Editorial Campaign Comment

"Wherever he (Wendell Willkie) has gone, he has left behind him the impression of a sincere man whose faith in America should be an inspiration to those who have been dismayed by the inefficiencies of those who deny the virility of America by acceptance of the doctrine of The Indispensable Man. Mr. Willkie believes that America made itself the greatest country in the world because its people were free from the hampering chains of government. He knows that America can make itself greater than it has even been in the past when government is once more returned to the people, from whom it derives its just powers."

"It is true that bunk is a component part of every campaign, and a certain amount of humbuggery is inseparable from the practices of politics. Nevertheless, no one can recall a campaign so completely saturated with fraud and false pretense as this one. That is not a partisan assertion. It is a simple statement of fact that can be proven by the record, and which some o fthose engaged in the third-term cynically admit. Only the less intelligent among them believe their own propaganda and an examination of the more palpable fakes reveals why. It is impossible to believe in them unless one is completely uninformed.

"There is the great fake of the "draft" at Chicago. Third termers, like Mr. Ickes, insist that Mr. Roosevelt was "drafted" as a result of an overwhelming demand of the people. That's the President's pose. Yet every informed man or woman knows that for months Mr. Roosevelt connived actively in the third-term movement, personally directed the convention and forced his nomination over the protests of national chairman Farley, vice president Garner, and such leading Democrats as Senators Glass, Byrd, Clark, Tydings, Burke, Walsh and others.

"Then there is the bunk about not having time to think about politics or take part in his own campaign. The fact is he is personally running his campaign from the White House; that he is directing not only the strategy, but the details; that he is in constant conference with his political managers; that he is using the war situation and the defense program to promote his candidacy. There is, too, the pretense that these "inspection trips" into New England, Maryland, Ohio and Pennsylvania are non-political and in the national interest. Actually, these are political trips paid for with government money. They are unnecessary, expensive and designed to strengthen the fiction that Mr. Roosevelt is not playing politics just at the moment. He is playing them as hard as he knows how. It is the most complete hypocrisy to pretend otherwise."

"SMEAR CAMPAIGN — (From Oct. 21 issue of LIFE). Last week, as the week before, the spectacle of a Presidential candidate wiping eggs and tomatoes from his clothes cast shame on the American Republic. Riding through the streets of Boston, Mr. Willkie was hit by a potato. Further on, a tomato [illegible] a photographer's camera. Then a light bulb crasred in the street. By week's end the foul-smelling box score stood: 11 eggs, 2 tomatoes, 2 rocks, 1 cantaloupe, 1 wastebasket, 1 bedspread, 1 telephone book, 1 electric light bulb. * * * Respectable Democratic politicians were running their own smear campaign, using instead of vegetables the charge that "a vote for Willkie is a vote for Hitler". Dipping deep into the mud, the Colorado Division of the Democratic National Committee came up with a pamphlet linking Willkie's German ancestry with Hitler's hatred of Negroes. Doubtless this particular smear was the Colored Division's own idea, but the publicity head of the Democratic National Committee is shrewd Charley Michelson, author of the "Smear Hoover" campaign of 1932."

Britain's Boy Scouts in War

A direct answer to the thought, often expressed in the U. S. A., "What is happening to Scouting in England during the stress of war", is furnished in the following message to America by the father of the Boy Scout movement, Lord Baden Powell.

His answer is far from pessimistic, and on the contrary, shows that scouting is capable of standing the acid test, also that under the severest strain any democracy ever has been called upon to resist Scouting not only has stood the test, but actually improved its morale under these difficult conditions.

The Boy Scouts Association
25 Buckingham Palace
Road, London, S. W. 1.

Dear Brother Scouts of America:-

You will have wondered what has been happening to your Brother Scouts in Great Britain, in all this upset of war. Well it's like this. Most of the Scoutmasters and Rovers have of course been called away to active Service and many of the Scouts have been evacuated from their home towns and taken to places less likely to be bombed.

So you can imagine that Troops are a good deal broken up; in fact many people have supposed that the Scout Movement in England would be ruined as a result of the war.

But not a bit of it! What has saved it has been the loyal spirit of the Scouts themselves, and more especially, of the Patrol Leaders. These fellows have risen to the occasion and have taken upon themselves the responsibility of keeping their Patrols together and putting them to do war work of all sorts and kinds.

As messengers in Government offices and Hospitals; First-aiders, signalers, cooks, firemen, traffic controls and so on the Scouts have proved themselves invaluable in duties behind the scenes. Not only have they kept up their numbers but new boys have joined as recruits, because of the opportunity it gives them of doing National Service.

So the war has not only done very little harm to the Movement, but has actually done it good in strengthening the Scouts' sense of responsibility and duty and in showing them that all their peace-time training has not been empty poppy-cock, but has been preparing them directly to take their part actively in the service of their country.

The British Scouts have been tremendously bucked up by their pen pals, and others of you Scouts of America, who have been sending them your sympathy and good wishes, and I would like to take this opportunity to offer their gratitude to you for the encouragement you have thus given them.

In spite of its horrors, the war, like every dark cloud, has its brighter side. The people of the United States of America have shown such kindly and helpful sympathy with their British cousins, as has brought the two nations into closer relationship than anything else could have done.

Long may that friendship continue after the war, to give an example to other nations of the world, how to live in peace and amity with one another.

(Signed) Baden Powell.

TAKE IT EASY!

STOP ME IF THIS ONE— YOU'VE HEARD

Father: So you love my daughter?

Swain: Love her? Why, I would die for her. For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from a lofty cliff and perish —glad to have a chance to sacrifice myself in her name.

Father: Well, you can't have her. I'm something of a liar myself, and one liar is enough in a small family like ours.

* * *

Friend: I met your husband today and he was telling me he is in love with his work.

Wife: Is that so? I must drop around to his office and see about it.

* * *

Stingo: I fell off a 32-foot ladder yesterday.

Bingo: How did it happen that you were not killed?

Stingo: I only fell off the third step.

* * *

Visiting Friend: Do you live far from your office?

Government Clerk: Well, yes, compared to the President.

* * *

Nexdore: I'm going to take my radio with me when I go on my vacation.

Nayber: That's very thoughtful of you. It certainly needs a vacation.

* * *

Askett: Who was it that said "it takes two to make a quarrel?"

Tellett: I don't know, but I'm sure it could not have been a married man.

* * *

Cutting: Do you know that George Washington never told a lie?

Nutting: No, I only heard it.

* * *

Wife: What did you rip the back part of my new book out for?

Surgeon: Excuse me, dear; it was labeled "appendix" and I took it out without thinking.

Served Him Right

A rich and pompous man was staying at a small country tavern in England and as he entered the breakfast room the only other visitor present rose to his feet. "Sit down, sit down", boomed the great and rich one, condescendingly. "Why", asked the other, "can't I get up for some marmalade?"

Utopia

Today's favorite gag: For hours I picket-walked up and down a busy street carrying a sign that was absolutely blank. Asked what was the big idea, he replied, "I'm looking for a sponsor."

Sagacious

The teacher explained to the class: "Words ending in 'ous' mean 'full', as 'joyous' means full of joy; 'vigorous' means full of vigor. Now, will someone give another example of such words?" One litle boy raised his hand. "Pious", he answered.

POTATOES CAN BE DIFFERENT

Be it ever so humble there is nothing better to appease the appetite than a properly cooked potato. During the dieting craze the lovely "spud" has had a bad reputation, not wholly justified. Rarely does one gain excessive weight through eating potatoes; it is the "plus bread and sweets" that cause the mischief. Do not exclude from the daily diet at least one generous serving of potatoes, unless for medical reasons a doctor has advised a no-potato menu. Now is the time to buy these tubers in quantity that is if you have sufficient and correct storage space; they should not be kept where they will be exposed to strong light.

POTATO PUFF

2 cups hot mashed potatoes
½ cup milk
2 egg yolks, well beaten
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper

Add butter, yolks and milk to potatoes; salt and pepper to taste. Beat well; add stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs. Pile lightly in buttered baking dish; bake until puffed and brown. Ground nuts added make a tasty variation.

— — — — — — — — clip for recipe file — — — — — — — —

POTATO DUMPLINGS

3 cups mashed potato
3 cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
4 eggs

Mix and sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to mashed potato; when well blended add beaten eggs. Make a soft dough, and roll into one long roll. Cut into inch slices; make each slice into small roll, about size of middle finger. Cook in boiling salted water about 25 minutes and serve hot with melted butter and fried onions.

POTATO CANDY

1 medium sized potato
2 tablespoons butter
7 tablespoons cocoanut
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 lb. confectioners' sugar
¼ lb. unsweetened chocolate

Boil and mash potato very fine; add butter, cocoanut, sugar and vanilla and beat until creamy. Pour in a buttered pan until hard and then pour over it the chocolate which has been melted over hot water; put in a cold place until chocolate it set, then cut in squares. Nuts can be substituted for the cocoanut.

GOULASH TASTY, INEXPENSIVE MEAT DISH

These busy fall days with housecleaning, club activities and the general trend of activity find the farsighted homemaker preparing one-dish meals that require little effort and little watching.

Pot roasts, stews and casseroles are time and labor savers, and both hungry youngsters and grown-ups enjoy the rich flavor of meats and vegetables cooked together.

By adding hot rolls or muffins, and perhaps a salad, a complete dinner is ready in the flash of an eye. Stewed fruits, crackers and cheese, or ice cream top off the meal in traditional style.

Here's a favorite recipe for veal goulash which adds molasses for distinction.

Veal Goulash

1½ pound veal steak
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (2½ cups) tomatoes
¼ cup light molasses
3 carrots, diced
1 small onion, sliced

Cut veal in 1½ inch cubes, dredge with flour and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Melt fat in large skillet, add veal cubes and brown. Remove from skillet, add flour to fat and mix thoroughly. Add tomatoes, molasses, carrots and onion. Return meat. Cover and simmer gently 1 hour or until meat is tender. Serves 6.

* * *

SERVE HOT CHILI AFTER GAME

Chili con carne is one of the most popular dishes after the big game. Here is a recipe to serve six. It can be increased to serve as many as you like. Use 1 tablespoon fat, 1 medium chopped onion, 1 pound ground beef, 1½ cups water, 2 teaspoons chili, 1 medium can kidney beans, 1 cup strained tomatoes and 1 clove garlic if desired.

Melt the lard in deep pan, then add onion and meat. Brown the meat and add other ingredients. Simmer until meat is tender and the flavors well blended.

Serve the chili in the center or a ring of boiled rice. With a toasted loaf of French bread, a tossed vegetable salad, dessert and coffee added, everybody will be happy.

* * *

CHEESE SHORTCAKE

Separate biscuit shortcakes and fill with a rich cheese sauce. Replace tops. Sprinkle each shortcake with a few drops of chutney sauce, and pour more sauce over top. Toast a few minutes in hot oven and serve for luncheon with large vegetable salad.

CUT IN SQUARES WHILE WARM AND SERVE

Upside-down cake has no equals when it comes to novelty desserts that combine both the qualities of substantiality and delicacy. Fruits of many kinds may be used for the topping. Canned pineapple, peaches, plums, cherries, stewed prunes, apricots, fresh apples. The cake part is simply put together.

Favorite way of presenting at the table is with fluffy whipped cream, though the rich fruit coating on one side makes it sufficiently delicious, served "as is". Leftover slices will be as eagerly received for tomorrow's lunch as tonight's dinner.

Prune-Apricot Upside Down Cake

1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup granulated sugar
4 tablespoons softened butter or shortening
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 tablespoons butter
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
13 cooked apricots
6 cooked prunes, halved and seeded

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together three times. Add butter. Combine egg, milk and vanilla. Add flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened; then beat vigorously one minute.

Melt the 4 tablespoons butter in 8 x 8 x 2 inch pan or 8-inch skillet, over low flame; add brown sugar and cook and stir until thoroughly mixed. On this arrange apricots and prunes, cut-side up, alternating an apricot and a prune half. Turn butter out on contents of pan. Bake in 350 degrees oven 50 minutes or until done. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula. Serve upside down on dish with fruit on top. Garnish with whipped cream if desired.

* * *

Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

1 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup white sugar
3 eggs
1½ cup cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
6 tablespoons pineapple juice
Pinch of salt

Simmer brown sugar and butter in a frying pan until melted. Remove pan and arrange 7 small or 5 large slices pineapple in the mixture. Pour over it the cake mixture made by beating the egg yolks with the pineapple juice, adding sugar and beating until dissolved. Fold in flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in a 300 degree oven about 1 hour. Turn over on level tray and serve either hot or cold with whipped cream. (Walnut meats or maraschino cherries may be placed in center of each pineapple slice if desired.)

* * *

GINGERBREAD COBBLER — Place sliced apples in bottom of buttered baking dish and sprinkle with sugar and a little lemon juice. Bake in a moderate oven about 20 minutes, then pour gingerbread batter over them and bake about 30 minutes or until cake shrinks from edges of pan. Serve with whipped cream.

PRAYING MANTIS LOSES IN SPIDER BATTLE

WASCO, Calif. — The praying mantis is out of its class when it tackles a black widow spider, Wasco oil field workers learned.

Oil workers had been arguing about the fighting abilities of the praying mantis and the black widow spider and agreed to settle the question.

The mantis opened the offensive as the battlers were placed in the ring. It leaped at the spider and bit it in the body and began sawing the spider's legs. The spider turned and bit the mantis on the head. The mantis became dazed and died in a few minutes.

Two children of Addison returned to the Canisteo Valley hills to be buried during the past week. They wanted in death what they could not enjoy in life, the happiness of resting among the scenes of their childhood. Progress calls the young away from home, they marry, settle down, engage in business or make homes in far places and only once in a while return to the scenes of their childhood. They say things have changed It is not things that have changed, They have changed and so are not happy here.

Power Project On River Seen Unnecessary

Head of Coal Group Says St. Lawrence Plan Senseless in Peace or War

Washington, D. C. — John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, contended today that there was "no honest justification" for the proposed St. Lawrence hydroelectric project "either in peace or war."

"It has no real place in any sensible program for national or continental defense", he said in a statement, "and the claims now advanced for it on that score are but a pretext and excuse for an unwise undertaking personallp espoused by the President, which Congress has never approved and in the past has emphatically rejected . . .

"Coal in abundance and close at hand and steam plants quickly built and economically operated is the answer as and when the need arises for increased electric power for national defense in that area."

The United States and Canada recently reached an agreement to starte preliminary work on a development in the international rapids section pending conclusion of a new St. Lawrence treaty.

Battle said the Administration's "seeming determination" to proceed with the project" "without any express authorization from Congress and wihout recourse to any treaty requiring the submission and consent of the Senate is in flagrant disregard of public sentiment and our constitutional processes of government."

Marg. Ginnane Former Resident Died Sunday

Miss Margaret Ginnane 70, sister of Miss Mary Ginnane, East Front street died suddenly Sunday morning at her home, 194 Vermont street in Buffalo, where she has lived for the past 30 years.

Miss Ginnane has been living in retirement in Buffalo for the past 10 years. A year ago she became ill but during the past few months had been regaining her strength and at no time has her condition been regarded as critical. She died in her sleep.

Miss Ginnane was born March 24, 1870, in Rathbone, a daughter of the late Jeremiah Ginnane and Susan Hurley Ginnane. She attended the district school in Rathbone and later came to Addison where she entered Addison High School. Upon graduation she entered a Rochester business school.

Upon completion of her work there she entered the employ of the Singer Sewing Machine Company in the Rochester district office. She then went to Buffalo where 30 years ago she became secretary in the veterinary hospital of the late Dr. Claris. For 20 years she served in that institution and retired 10 years ago and has since lived in retirement with a companion Miss Catherine Hewitt, who found her dead Sunday morning.

Miss Ginnane was a devout Roman Catholic and member of Holy Angels Church. In addition she was an ardent and avid reader and continued abreast of current news and happenings until her death. Saturday she left her home to register to vote in the coming election.

Her brother, Frank Ginnane, retired Erie employee, also of Buffalo, was visiting relatives in Addison when notified of his sister's death. He went with Undertaker Guy Mayer and the body was brought to Addison Sunday night to the home of Miss Mary Ginnane.

In addition to Miss Ginnane and Frank Ginnane mentioned, she leaves a brother. James in Portland, Oregon and a brother, Henry in Elizabeth, N. J.

Funeral services were held in St. Catherine's Church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with the Rev. Patrick Kelly officiating. Burial was in the family plot in St. Catherine's Cemetery. Bearers were John O'Keefe, Michael Kerins, John O'Connell, Michael Finnican, Timothy Tobin and Harry Mullen.

BORDEN

A solver tea will be held Friday, October 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Gould.

Registration was completed Saturday with 233 enrolled. This is the largest number ever registered in the district.

On Wednesday 35 registered for the draft.

American Boy Magazine Companion to Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum", writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY".

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 20c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. Adv.

Inspired Subs Spark Knights to 6-0 Victory Over Andover

Four varsity vets not in lineup—Donald Gee is individual hero intercepting pass and racing 25 yards for touchdown—Puts Knights in tie for Three A League leadership.

Inspired football, making the breaks and a will to win brought victory to the Knights in one of the most dramatic football games of the year for the Addison High School squad. Addison 6, Andover 0. But that hardly tells the tale.

Tuesday morning word passed around school that three varsity members would not play in the afternoon and hopes for the game fell, and with those hopes went the hopes of winning a championship a championship which has rested in Addison ever since touch football was instituted in the school. There was some talk of canceling the game. But a vote of the remaining members of the squad indicated the game should be played.

The highlight of the game came when Donald Gee intercepted a pass on the Andover 25 yard line in the second quarter and ran "like lightning" to the goal line.

In the second half the Andover squad was knocking at the Addison door eight times and eight times the Addison line and backfield held and the carriers lost the ball to the Knights.

The contest opened with both teams punting out of danger throughout most of the period. Dick Gladstone's punts averaged 45 yards, no mean average for a lightweight. Incidentally in the entire Addison backfield not one man weighed over 120 pounds.

Addison Scores

Rumsey Reynolds opened the second quarter by recovering an Andover fumble and immediately Addison lost the ball when Andover intercepted. They tried another pass and then Gee hooked onto the ball and looking not back, not sidewards, ran with the interception. At the whistle the Andover squad was within three yards of the Addison goal, a break for Addison.

The last period found the losers in Addison territory most of the time, in fact 80 per cent of the time, They could not penetrate the Addison line. And the game ended with Gee again intercepting a pass and running 20 yards to the Andover 10 yard line, and the whistle blew ending the game and giving Addison a tie for first place in the Three A League.

Highlights

Some of those who might be called stars of the game would be hard to pick as all the fellows played inspired ball. However the work of Ingersol in smashing down the Andover strategist, the playing of Elmer Bovee against a 230 pound opponent and outplaying the opponent, the backfield playing of Nichols, who was a menace to Andover backfield men throughout most of the afternoon, all these with the team playing of the entire squad made this victory possible.

There were no substitutions in the Addison lineup in the game. Those who played were: Rumsey Reynolds, short end; Harold Hargrave, long end; Marvin Ricker at center to break up short pass plays; John Nichols, short tackle; Elmer Bovee, long tackle; Charles Wilson, wingback position; Marvin Ingersol second back or blocking back position; Donald Gee at three back; and Dick Gladstone at four back position.

Young Farmers Invited to AHS Monday Meet

The first meeting of out-of-town groups will be held Monday, October 28, 1940. This group consists of those young men on farms between the ages of 16 and 30.

The first meeting will be given over to the organization set up for the coming year. Joe Coleman who was president of the group last year will preside as has been customary in the past. A new president and secretary will be elected Monday night.

The plans for the rest of the meetings for the coming year will be made up at that time. All those who attend are urged to bring a list of topics that they wish to discuss during the coming winter months.

Last year there was an average attendance of 17 at these meetings. It is expected that this attendance record will be exceeded during the present year. Frank Finnerty local teacher of agriculture will conduct most of the meetings. However specialists in subject matter both locally and out of the community will be used at various meetings.

The meetings will start at 8:30 p. m. and will be held in the agriculture room of the Addison High School. After the first meeting a committee to serve refreshments and to conduct a program of the sports will be chosen. The meetings are divided into five parts, consisting of one-half hour to three quarters of an hour instruction on some topics. The following half hour will be given over to an informal discussion about the topic by the members.

Refreshments will be served after which a sports program will be conducted for those who care to participate. Every young man or any adults who care to attend these meetings are welcome. It is urged that each person who has been in regular attendance during the past years bring someone who will benefit from these instructions that are given in these meetings.

Neglect of Accident Hazards Claims 32,000 Lives Annually in U. S. Homes

Falls and Burns Leading Causes, Red Cross Warns in Safety Appeal

Washington, D. C.—The American Home—traditionally the symbol of security and safety—rivals the highway as the scene of the nation's greatest number of accident fatalities.

In a statement issued here by the Home and Farm Accident Prevention Service of the American Red Coss, it was pointed out that accidents in the home, including falls, burns and other common mishaps, claimed 32,000 lives last year—only 600 less than the number of motor vehicle deaths. Farm accidents accounted for an additional 4,200 deaths.

Statistics showed that home deaths last year increased 500 over the preceding year and farm accidents increased 300.

In addition to a mounting death toll, home and farm accidents last year caused upwards of 4,700,000 injuries which resulted in economic losses running into millions of dollars.

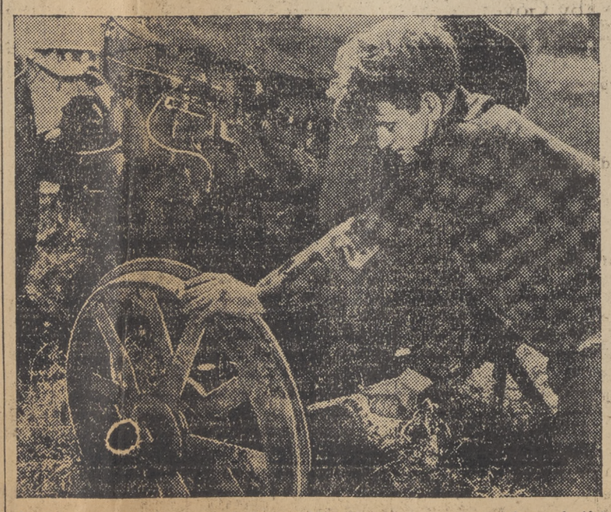
To reduce the number of rural and urban accidents in and about the home, the American Red Cross in 1935 inaugurated its accident prevention program as a parallel project with the First Aid and Life Saving Services. This year, 9,000,000 "check lists" describing accident hazards and urging their removal will be distributed throughout the country.

Approximately 2,000 Red Cross chapters have undertaken a program to acquaint householders in their vicinities with accident hazards in the home and on the farm. Chapters will be aided by the Junior Red Cross and the schools in distributing the "check lists."

The program will stress the vital need for removing accident hazards causing falls, as this type of accident resulted in more than half of last year's home accident fatalities. Burns and explosions caused the next heaviest loss of life.

Accident prevention is one of seven services conducted day-to-day by the American Red Cross in its tireless campaign against accidental death and suffering arising from disaster and other causes of emergency nature. These services are supported solely by members who join each year during Roll Call, November 11-30.

Each year 1,400 adults and children die from accidental poisoning. Label bottles clearly and keep them out of reach of children.



Accidents on the farm yearly injure 200,000 persons and machinery is the leading cause. Most deaths and injuries are due to carelessness.

Arkport Trips Knights 36-12

Arkport pulled a surprise on the Knights Friday afternoon and went home with a touchfootball game tucked under thei rbanners for the first time in three years. And what a score they piled up. The finale of the four round debacle was 36 to 12, the worst defeat ever administered to an Addison football team. Not only was the goal line crossed but it was crossed so many times that bystanders lost track of the score until the finale whistle.

The secret of the victory seems to be the fact that the Arkport squad came here with the desire to win and the ability to make the desire come true. The interference given Arkport by their teammates proved the outstanding point of the afternoon's play. The locals were out played from the second quarter on. At the first quarter mark the score stood at six all. The second half opened with the visitors throwing long passes with the receivers being well covered and at the close of the second quarter Addison trailed 18 to 12.

The around end plays proved effective for Arkport and they continued to use them so that an additional touchdown was added in the third period and two more in the fourth while the Knights were held scoreless.

This game puts Addison, Arkport and Andover in a three way tie for first place in the league, an unusual position for the Knights who have achieved honors in this league since its formation four years ago. Addison's touchdowns came on passes from Dominick to Kizer and Hargrave.

The Knights played Andover, Tuesday afternoon and will go to Knoxville Friday afternoon for the last game in the 1940 campaign.

In his youth he was an active member of the Knights of Columbus, and of the Benevolent, Protective Order of Elks.

He leaves his wife and three daughters, Natalie and Jacqueline Brennan of New York and Mrs. Agnes Munge of Somerset, also two step-daughters, Helen and Catherine Leonard, both of New York.

The bearers at the funeral here Saturday were Michael Kerins, Timothy Tobin, John James and Michael Finnican.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of the Advertiser:

Probably in common with all intelligent Americans, I am appalled by the damnably atrocious butchery and destruction perpetrated by unciviliz̤ed barbarians in Europe, Asia and Africa, with America possibly next in line for assault.

In my own case, however, the attacks on England, France and Belgium are especially distressing for the reason that I am personally acquainted with some of the areas ravaged: Buckingham Palace, St. Paul's Cathedral, Lincoln Inn, the Temple, Regent street, Piccadilly Circus, Trafalgar Square, Westminister Abbey and other historical features of London; also Paris, Brest, St. Nazaire and Antwerp.

Whatever may have been the events and disputes leading up to this disruption of Christendom by the Cohorts of Hell, and irrespective of the conditions that to the aggressors may have seemed to justify their activities, there can be no reasonable excuse for the enormous waste of life and property, with all the suffering and misery entailed, in a human sense, and the utmost effort of civilized and Christianized human beings should be applied to the ultimate and permanent stopage of this arrogant intolerable violation of individual and national rights by savages reveling in blood and bestiality.

Election Returns From CBS By Trained Staff

Election news coverage on an unprecedented scale has been arranged by the Columbia Broadcasting System to keep its coast-to-coast audience abrast of the vote as the nation registers its choice for President on Nov. 4.

A staff of more than 40 trained men and women in the nerve center of the network's election service in New York City will marshal the vote tallies as they pour in from all parts of the country.

Ten special long-distance telephone circuits and six private line connections with remote points, special Morse wires and nine Associated Press, United Press and International News Service printers have been installed for the election coverage.

The corps of workers will include topflight analysts, skilled editors and news reporters, tabulators, copyreaders, technicians and engineers to insure efficient operations from the most important to slightest detail.

All reports will be cleared through a streamlined copy desk, where editors, connected by phone devices will give the returns to tabulators, equipped with head-and-chest phone sets and stationed at a giant white tally board.

Presenting all this information to CBS listeners from coast to coast will be the following all-star lineup:

BOB TROUT, ace reporter, giving the returns.

ELMER DAVIS interpreting and analyzing the presidential race as it rounds the home stretch.

Over The Garden Fence

Complicated problems for the gardener come with the first days of October. With one eye on the shifting Autumn pageant of the garden and countryside, you must keep the other eye focused on the picture six months away—the Spring garden.

Already it is time to be stowing the small bulbs away in the rock garden and to be planting for narcissus gaiety. Tulips can go into the ground at the end of the month or in early November, but if you are planting tulips this year you had better be thinking about them now.

* * *

Bulbs Fall Victim ot War

This fall finds the Dutch bulb market in the role of war victim. Thanks to the embargo which up until recently prevented the importation of narcissus bulbs, we have in this country plenty of narcissus growers and a wide range of varieties available. There were times when we railed at the same embargo, which kept up the price of these favorite bulbs. But at the moment it proves to have been a blessing. America is self-sufficient when it comes to narcissi.

The tulip picture is different, however, for all these years we have depended largely on the Holland growers for our tulips. To be sure there are American tulip growers, but they are by no means ready yet to take up quantity production where Holland left off when the Nazi took over that little kingdom last spring.

Holland's bulb fields were apparently largely undamaged by the invasion but the spring routine of digging was broken into and commerce with the outside world is at a standstill.

Supply Limited

And now that we've seen the American tulip bulbs on sale this season we're quite convinced that the native product is going to prove satisfactory. The only difference, as we can see it is that where we had hundreds of varieties to choose from this year. Also, the supply is limited.

In fact, it is so limited that it is going to be a case of first come, first served. Don't say we didn't warn you. With a garden of our own practically chock full of tulips already—so full we can't dig in it without slicing a precious bulb—we've bought ourselves another handful of Gesneriana spathulata, a handsome scarlet tulip we've been tracking down for some time now.

The rest of the tulips on the locally available list are in the main the old tried and true favorites. You can hardly go wrong on one of them. And the prices are not as much higher as, considering the scarcity, you might reasonably expect.

For instance, there is Carrara, one of the finest of the whites; Clara Butt, long time favorite pink; Reverend Ewbank, classic lavender; Pride of Harlem, an old red which is still hard to beat; Le Tulipe Noire, outstanding blackish maroon; Inglescombe Yellow, that popular yellow cottage tulip; Bleu Aimable, tall blue; Princess Elizabeth, fine clear pink; The Sultana, maroon black; Dream, deep violet; Loveliness, salmon pink; Panorama, handsome terracotta and bronze, and Cardinal Manning, tall rosy violet.

Try These Small Bulbs

And the dearth of tulips will quite likely turn a little long-needed attention to the extensive narcissus family and the many small bulbs available.

For instance, we might cultivate that charming native American the calochortus, or Mariposa tulip of the west. It comes in a variety of colors, its cup shaped flower centered by fleckings of color like a butterfly's wings, whence comes its name which is Spanish for butterfly.

Camassia is a hardy bulb, sending up stems clustered with star-shaped blossoms. And erythroniums, are worth investigating, the native western version of our eastern trout-lily or dogtooth violet. These come in delightful colors and are well worth the little effort it takes to establish them. They like a shady spot and woodsy soil. Also they should be planted as early as possible, which means right now.

Well, we also have the old familiars, grape hyacinths, scillas and ornithogalum, or star of bethelhem; leucojum, or snowflake and fritillaria, not so many varieties as in other years, perhaps, but still enough to keep us in early spring color.

TO EXTEND VOTING HOURS

The invoking of a special session of the Legislature by Governor Lehman for the purpose of extending the voting hours throughout the state on election day from 6 P. M. to 9 P. M., should meet with approval of all citizens. The passage of the measure should require but a few hours of the legislators' time. The additional three hours will make it possible for each registered voter to cast his or her vote in this very important Presidential election.

Similar action was taken in 1936 and proved its value in the extremely heavy vote which was cast in the larger centers of population. This year New York City has shown a gain in registration of nearly half a million voters, and substantial increases have been evidenced in other cities and towns.

So long as the privilege is statewide, there can be no complaint from any party regarding the added convenience to voters and officials alike. But most important, no citizen will be able to contend that he did not have time in which to cast his ballot.

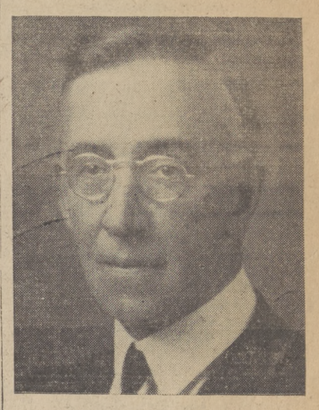
Corning Man Moderator of Presbyterians

The Rev. Dr. Elmer Stuart, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Corning, Monday was elected moderator of the New York State synod at a meeting in Albany.

Mr. Stuart was nominated by the Rev. George H. Allen, Jr., pastor of Bath Presbyterian Church.



REV. DR. ELMER J. STUART

Dr. Stuart is in his 22nd year in the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church, Corning, Steuben County. A son of Samuel W. and Mary Ann Carroll Stuart, he was born in Howard, Steuben County May 15, 1877. He was educated at Bath High School, graduating in 1899; from Hamilton College, with degree of bachelor of arts, in 1903; Auburn Theological Seminary in 1906. He later was accorded the degree, master of arts, by Hamilton College.

Ordained in 1906

He was ordained to the ministry of the Presbyterian body by the Presbytery of Utica, June 13, 1906. His first pastorate was at Cochrane Memorial Presbyterian Church, Oneida Castle, where he served from 1906 until 1912. He next served at Prattsburgh, Steuben County from 1912 until 1916. He then assumed the pastorate of the First Church, Watervliet, serving until 1919, when he was called to the Corning pastorate.

Alfred University honored him with the degree, doctor of divinity, in 1923.

He has served three terms as commissioner of the general assembly and from 1919 until 1923 was a director of Auburn Theological Seminary. He lately resigned after nineteen years as stated clerk, first of the Presbytery of Steuben and then the Steuben -Elmira Presbytery, upon a merger of the Chemung and Steuben Presbyteries. He was a member of the judicial commission of the New York Synod in 1929 and served on the synod's visiting committee at Elmira College.

He is a member of Prattsburgh Masonic Lodge, Corning Consistory of Scottish Rite Masons and active in the Rotary Club of Corning.

Cannot Sell Real Estate For Another Party Without License

Anyone who attempts to sell or lease real estate for another and for a commission or any valuable consideration is liable to arrest and a heavy penalty unless he is licensed by the State of New York in accordance with the Real Property Law, it was stated by Roger W. Huntington, President of the Real Estate Association of the State of New York.

"The Real Estate License Law was enacted several years ago to protect the public against unscrupulous and incompetent real estate dealers", Huntington said. "In order to qualify to sell real estate, an applicant for a broker's license must pass a rigid examination and prove that he has had sufficient experience to render intelligent service.

"Anyone violating the law is guilty of a misdemeanor which carries a heavy penalty. In addition, the owner who paid an unlicensed dealer a commission may sue and recover up to four times the amount of commission paid by him.

" Any unlicensed person who accepts part of a broker's commission for providing prospects or assisting in a deal is also guilty of law violation even though he did not actually negotiate the deal", Huntington said.

The provisions of the license applies to everyone except "receivers administrators executors, guardians or other persons appointed by or acting under the judgment or order of any court; or public officers while performing their official duties, or attorneys at law."

There are at present 14,689 brokers and 10,468 salesmen licensed to sell real estate in the State of New York, according to the Department of State.

OUR COUNTRY — The Harder Part

Editorial from New York Herald Tribune

The 17,000,000 men who registered for service on Wednesday have magnificently performed their part in establishing a democratic military system for the United States. The country as a whole, and in particular the local draft boards, must now do theirs. It is not going to be an easy one.

To succeed, the system must be supported with intelligent interest by the country; it must be administered with the most rigorous possible fairness and common sense. Chance, speaking through the "lottery" to be drawn at Washington in the next week or so, will determine the order in which the men are called up, but it will be the local boards, wielding the power of "deferment", which will determine whether any given individual must answer when his number is called.

Deferments for disability and dependency will probably be relatively simple. Deferment on the ground that the individual is engaged in necessary work will call for all the judgment the boards can muster. Washington has wisely refused to issue any federal regulations to the boards, for no one central agency would either be competent to make such decisions for the whole country or able to bear the overwhelming responsibility for them which would at once descend upon it. Consequently, each board must determine for itself what work is necessary and what is not.

The general public, at the same time, has its part to do. It must not, for one thing, sentimentally exaggerate the burden. The draft will not call men to battle; it will call them only to twelve months' military training, with by no means negligible pay and allowances, which for many called will be no burden at all. The public must realize that there are bound to be variations between the standards adopted by the different boards, and that the irregularities or seeming inequities which may result are inevitable by the very nature of a system administered locally and democratically through each community doing its part for itself. The general public has a duty not only to watch over but to assist and support the work of the local board; for what is here being created is a democratic defense system, designed to protect us all, and in which, as in politics and government, all of us must do our part.

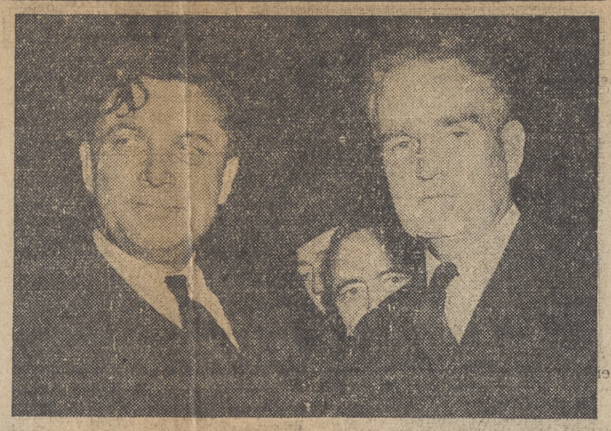
TWO FAMED AMERICAN CITIZENS MEET



WENDELL L. WILLKIE, G.O.P. Presidential Candidate, and Bruce Barton, Candidate for the U. S. Senate, each agreed that the third term is the vital issue in the campaign to rout the New Deal out of Washington. They are shown when they met at the monster "Willkie Rally" at Yonkers Track on September 28.

Cole Says Roosevelt Responsible for Our Unpreparedness

Hampton Beach, N. H. — More than 300 members of the Rockingham County Republican Club recently cheered Congressman W. Sterling Cole's charge that "responsibility for the unpreparedness of the Army and Navy rests upon the shoulders of one man and that man is the chief executive who now declares himself 'indispensible". Mr. Cole discussed "Totalitarian Government Under Roosevelt" and showed how the President had eliminated from his circle of advisors all who opposed his determination to rule regardless of the public wishes.

Mr. Cole urged support of Wendell Willkie and said that the Republican candidate had declared himself fully and frankly on every public issue and every voter today knows exactly where he stands on the problems affecting the national safety and the national prosperity. He declared the nation today is suffering for the leadership of a business man after nearly eight years the reign of a political idealist and opportunist.

Mr. Cole, ranking Republican member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, was conducted on a tour of the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard by Rear Admiral John D. Wainwright and Captain John J. Brown, who is in command of the Yard. Three large submarines are under construction there.

Talks in 4 States Listed by Al Smith In Willkie's Behalf

New York — Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith who "took a walk" from the Democratic party in 1936 will oppose the New Deal again by speaking in four states for Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential candidate.

Alan Valentine, executive director of the committee, announced this schedule for Smith, Democratic presidential nominee in 1928, with a fifth speech to be scheduled later:

Oct 23 — Brooklyn, to be broadcast regionally from 10 to 10:30 p. m. (E. S. T.)

Oct. 26 — Chicago, to be broadcast nationally by Illinois Democrats for Willkie.

Oct 29 — Philadelphia to be broadcast nationally from 9:30 to 10 p. m. (EST).

Oct. 31 — Boston, to be broadcast regionally from 9 to 9:30 p. m. (EST).

TAX FAX
Of New York State
L. Richard Guylay

The $367,000,000 spent on debt service alone among the local governments of New York State in 1935 would enable a city the size of Syracuse to build a $6,000 home for every one of its families and furnish each home with $1,000 worth of furniture.

* * *

White Plains, a city in Westchester County, has the heaviest per capita debt burden in the country — amounting to $327.68 per capita.

* * *

Public expenditures of more than $25 billion are anticipated for 1942. National defense expenditures will reach a peak of $8 billion in that year, according to the United States News.

One out of every $4 spent by the average city and village in New York State goes to meet the cost of debt service, according to the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey.

* * *

Spread the burden of federal, state and local taxation evenly over the people of this nation and each family in New York State would find itself paying more than $35.00 a month in taxes.

* * *

Wonder why taxes go up? In one New York State community, local officials insured a heavy steel flagpole against fire—despite the fact that the pole was not even dangerously near any building.

Supervisors Refute Club Charges Against Steuben County Home

At a recent meeting of the Townsend Club in Bath it was charged that Steuben County Home was unsanitary, vermin ridden and that inadequate meals were served inmates. These charges were brought to the attention of the County Board of Supervisors who immediately made an inspection of the premises.

Upon concluding the inspection, the Supervisors passed a resolution by unanimous vote commending the administration of E. Ray Hardenbrook, County Commissioner. The resolution follows:

WHEREAS, this Board of Supervisorh has been informed that at a recent meeting held in the Village of Bath charges were made to the affect that the County Home buildings were not sanitary and were infested with vermin and that the food was wholly inadequate and consisting of principally beans, and whereas, the charges not only reflect upon the County Commissioner of Public Welfare but upon this Board of Supervisors and upon the State Department of Social Welfare and Whereas the members of this Board made an inspection trip for the purpose of determining the truth or falsity of the charges and found the buildings to be in fine state of repair and clean and free from vermin; and found that the menus of food furnished the inmates consisted of choice staple foods suitable and in many respects better than found in many homes, and Whereas, this Board believes that the charges relative to the buildings referred to a situation existing in the so called hospital building demolished two years ago by order of the State Dept. of Social Welfare as a fire hazard and the informants at the meeting either did not know of the change in conditions or intentionally withheld the information and Whereas, we believe the charges were unfounded and unworthy, now therefore be it

RESOLVED, that this Board of Supervisors go on record as commending the condition of the buildings and the food being furnished at the County Home, and the care that is being given the inmates.

Wrecked Vessels Are One Woman's Hobby

Down in Nag's Head, N. C., Mrs. Rida Hollowell, a smiling little woman with snow-white hair, lives with a hundred ghosts, stalking through her home in a most friendly manner. For her hobby is shipwrecks, when one would think that water colors or china painting might be her avocation.

For years she has lived on this wreck-strewn coast, the "Graveyard of the Atlantic", and has combed a hundred miles of beach for relics from broken ships. Her collection is unsurpassed.

The Hollowell Cottage, known as "The Wreckage", contains at least one relic of every major shipwreck that has occurred from Norfolk, Va., to Ocraccke since the battleship Huron broke upon the Dimond Shoals in 1877.

In addition, there are hundreds of items from wrecks all over the Atlantic which eventually are washed ashore in this section of the Carolina outer banks.

The outside of the cottage is covered with the nameplates taken from wrecked ships. All the steps of the porch were used at sea. There is even a rope ladder running to the second floor, "just in case the boys want to slip away for a late date", Mrs. Hollowell explains.

At the front of the house is a huge ship's wheel, while a flying eagle figurehead extends over the yard. Lights, hammocks and porch furniture all came from boats The usual greeting there is "come aboard", rather than "come in".

Inside the house salvaged wreckage is found everywhere and collectors become excited when they see the pieces in the china cupboard. Each is from a different ship. In one of the rooms is the prize—a well-worn wooden figurehead believed to have come from the famous clipper ship, Flying Cloud.

The walls of the cottage are covered with flags maps and guns. Every corner has its quota of souvenirs, including ships.

HECKMAN—MUNSON

Miss Winifred Munson became the bride of Seward Heckman Tuesday evening at a quiet wedding at the Baptist parsonage in Troupsburg, where the pastor, the Rev. Wetherbee, performed the ceremony. Miss Verda Sutton and Robert Heckman, brother of the groom, attended the couple. Mrs. Heckman was dressed in blue marquisette over blue taffeta and the bridesmaid wore a harmonizing color.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Devillo Munson of this village. She graduated from Jasper Central School in June 1940. The groom is the older son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Heckman, of the Woodhull-Troupsburg road and is an alumnus of Woodhull High School, being of the class of 1935. He is employed in Woodhull, where they will make their home for the present.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

WARSAW, IND. — Eighty-seven years after it was issued a military land grant written on sheepskin and signed by President Franklin Pierce was filed with the Kosciusko County recorder. The patent deeded 40 acres to Jesse Evans of the Virginia Militia. It was dated May 1, 1853.

APPLES — The average apple contains so much compressed air it would — if normally expanded—fill a space forty-eight times the size of the apple itself. Recently isolated by a chemist of the U. S. Government, the delicate essence of apple may soon gain favor as a flavoring in ice cream.

Sports—

The shellacking given Syracuse by Cornell Saturday definitely sets the Big Red as King of the Upstate football world this year. The Orangemen went down 33 to 6. Their one consolation is in the fact they are the only team to score on Cornell this year.

—o—

The passing attack of Cornell is something to write home about. They have so many passers and so many receivers, that opposition is kept guessing throughout the entire game.

—o—

Ohio State seems to have been highly overrated at the opening of the football season. Minnesota took them across 13 to 7. Pitt is another once-all-powerful team which has gone the way of Colgate, Army, Dartmouth and other national leaders.

—o—

A mid-west sports editor states that Babe Ruth will never be a big league manager for his memory is too poor. Ruth played baseball instinctively and never made an error in judgment.

A Lexington (Kentucky) newspaper offers to give away its entire edition on any racing day that a bluegrass-bred horse does not win a race on a major track in the United States. That is confidence in the home product with a capital "C".

—o—

When there are upsets in football, they really upset. Big scores in upsets seem to be prevalent this year and big scores of games not so upsetting also seem to be in order.

Illinois Banker Defies Senators on His Roosevelt Blast

Chicago — J. M. Nichols, president of the First National Bank of Englewood, said that he considered it a "patriotic duty to tell our depositors what will happen if Roosevelt is reelected."

He made public a letter addressed to Chairman Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa) of the Senate campaign investigating committee, asserting "I defy your crowd to conduct a congressional investigation" into the bank's affairs.

His comment came after Representative John W. McCormack, Democrat, of Massachusetts, had notified the Senate campaign investigating committee in Washington of the bank's published statement, to which was appended a note reading: "In last stand for democracy, every director and officer of this bank will cast his vote for Wendell Willkie."

Mr. Nichols said the same statement would be published again today in a New York publication, The American Banker.

"Break the third-term tradition and you break the backbone of democracy", said Mr. Nichols, who has frequently criticized the New Deal. "It will mean the end of my business." . . .

Mr. Nichols is the bank's major stockholder.

Hardenbrook Says, No Actual Reduction in Old Age Grants

BATH, Oct. 23 — E. Ray Hardenbrook, Steuben County Commissioner of Public Welfare, has been perplexed by numerous letters asking why reductions have been made in many Old Age Assistance payments when, he says, no such reductions have been made asa matter offact. He issued the following statement to explain the situation:

"In general no actual reductions have been made in Old Age Assistance grants, for the total cost remains about the same, but the system of payment in most cases has been altered. In the beginning of this work an allowance for taxes medical care, clothing and a few other items were included in the monthly checks with the understanding that these special items which were included in the checks would be held in reserve by the recipients for the emergencies indicated."

"However, we found that in more than half of such cases these special allowances wer eused for other purposes, and when it came time to pay taxes, meet medical bills or clothing costs it was necessary for the county to duplicate part of the amount originally granted to the recipient. This cost several thousand dollars a year additional and to conserve the taxpayers' fund we decided to deduct these special amounts from the regular grants and pay taxes, medical care, etc., as the need occurred.

"The net result is that the grant stil lincludes allowances for food, fuel, shelter, etc., as shown by a budget carefully worked out by an investigator according to state and federal relief standards and the special emergency payments are made when needed. Hence it will be seen that in general the Old Age Assistance payments have not been reduced but the method of payment only has been changed to conserve funds.

"In this connection I wish to call attention to the fact that town welfare officers are appointed by and responsible to the local Town Boards and not to the County Welfare Commissioner's office. Appeals from the rulings of such town welfare oficers must be made to the local Town Boards and not to me, as under the law I am not permitted to dictate the policies of such local Town Boards. In at least one case a town welfare officer said that I had refused to sanction and increased payment when, as a matter of fact, I had nothing to do with the case and could not legally act in the matter."

23 College Presidents Back Willkie

New York — The Republican National Committee Sunday released a statement signed bp presidents of 23 universities and colleges stating they believed that under Wendell L. Willkie's "philosophy of government the youth of America will have a better chance than under a continuation for a third term of the present administration."

The signers represented the following schools:

Union University, Schenectady; Yale, New Haven; Clark, Worcester, Mass.; Buffalo; Hamilton, Clinton, N. Y.; Colorado College, Colorado Springs; Colgate, Hamilton, N. Y.; Earlham, Richmond, Ind.; Syracuse; Mt. Holyoke, South Hadley, Mass.; Brigham Young, Provo, Utah; Dartmouth, Hanover, N. H.; Boston University; Capital, Columbus, Ohio; Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; Toledo (O); Goucher College, Baltimore; Butler, Indianapolis; The Chandler Schools, Boston; Washington, St. Louis, Rochester (N. Y.); Lehigh Bethlehem, Pa., and Brown, Providence, R. I.

SWISS SOUP—Put a slice of toast or stale French bread into a deep soup plate. Cover with 4 tablespoons shredded Swiss cheese. Top with sevond slice of toast or French bread. Pour over this enough scalding milk to make one portion of soup. Cover and let stand for 3 minutes. Top with hot browned butter, and season with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Serve immediately.

* * *

YOUNGSTERS' SALAD — Use fully ripe bananas, peel and cut lengthwise. Place cut sides up, on salad plate and spread with raspberry jam. Top with tablespoon of cream dressing and serve on shredded lettuce.

* * *

HASH WEDGES — Cut 1-pound can of corned beef hash lengthwise into 4 wedge pieces and bake uncovered in moderate oven until crispy around the edges. Serve surrounded with white sauce seasoned with Worcestershire sauce and slice hard-cooked eggs. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with parsley springs.

Private Polls Show Willkie Strength

The number of election polls this year is larger than ever before. Some are extremely limited, others sectional. Some cover a wide territory but touch an infinitisimal number of persons by the "sampling" methods while others resort to the method employed by Emil Hurja in 1932 and 1936 when he forecast so accurately the results of the Roosevelt election.

A number of these latter checks are run by private concerns and most of them indicate Wendell Willkie is now leading in electoral votes. One of these polls reputed to cost in the six figures shows Willkie holding 269 electoral votes to 229 for Roosevelt with the two states of Illinois and Idaho still in doubt. The Hurja method was to study the efficiency of both parties; precinct, district and county organizations to determine their efficiency in getting out the vote. The thirteen southern states generally conceded Democratic are omitted from the study.

Betting on the election totals $100,000 a day Odds of 14 to 5 on Roosevelt, as of October 1 have dropped to 8 to 5. Betting brokers with the data from these polls in their possession say bets will be even one week before election and that odds will favor Willkie on the eve of the balloting.

Announce Dates Of Deer Season

Distribution of nearly 170,000 special deer licenses to county clerks and district offices of the Conservation department, for use during the forthcoming fall deer hunting season has been completed. An equal number of buttons have also been sent out. Included in the shipments are 162,930 resident and 6,800 non-resident deer licenses. Last year approximately 148,000 persons were licensed to hunt deer in New York State.

The increased number is occasioned by the fact that deer hunting will be extended to three additional southern tier counties during the open season. The new counties where deer hunting will be permitted for the first time this fall are. Tioga, Tompkins and Chenango. The fee for resident deer hunters remains the same as in previous years and may be purchased for $1.25.

At the same time department officials called to the attention of sportsmen the open season in the three separate parts of the state. In what is termed the Adirondack section, the season opens on November 1, and continues through November 30th. During the entire month deer may be taken in the counties of Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lewis, Oswego, Saratoga, St. Lawrence, Warren, Washington and those portions of the counties of Herkimer and Oneida north of the main line tracks of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad.

In the southern tier section o the state, in the counties of Broome, Cortland, Steuben, Chautauqua, Cattaraugus, Allegany, Chemung, Schuyler, Tioga, Tompkins, Chenango and Yates, it will be legal to hunt deer from November 25th through November 30th.

In the Catskills and surrounding counties the season opens on November 15th and continues through November 30th. In this part of the state deer hunting is permitted in the counties of Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Otsego, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster.

Hurja Predicts Willkie Victory

Emil J. Hurja, secretary to the Democratic National Committee for the 1932-36 campaigns, predicted last week that Willkie would be the winner next month. Hurja, a wizard with statistics, was Jim Farley's right hand man in the two campaigns Farley so successfully piloted for Roosevelt. It was due to Hurja's almost super-human ability to analyze how citizens were going to vote that Farley was able to make his uncanny forecast of the tremendous Roosevelt vote in 1936.

Last week Hurja said Willkie would win by at least a million and a half and that his majority might turn into a landslide by election day.

SEC Aiding State In Barring 'Wildcat' Defense Companies

Washington — The Securities and Exchange Commission, is cooperating with state securities commissions to prevent "wildcat" manufacturing concerns from profiteering on national defense orders.

SEC officials said privately that precautionary steps were being taken to prevent a recurrence of conditions prevailing during World War days when "fly-by-night" operators obtained Government contracts which they were unable to fill. They emphasized that no evidence of profiteering had been brought to their attention and that the precautions were intended merely to discourage any attempt at profiteering.

State securities commissions, they said, have been advised to pay special attention to any "war issues", either stocks or bonds, which are presented for registration. They were told that if any doubt existed to their validity or soundness, records should be submitted to the SEC and the National Defense Commission.

LEFTOVER SANDWICHES—Dip them in egg beaten with little milk, and fry until golden brown in skillet as for french toast. Serve hot

PENNY COINAGE SOARS TO RECORD

PHILADELPHIA — Because of the heavy demand for defense taxes the Philadelphia Mint established an all-time record for coining pennies during July. The mint, which supplies the region east of the Mississippi River, turned out 86,176,000 coppers during the month. The previous record of 77,431,500 was set in November, 1939.

HELIUM — The only helium plant in the United States is located in Potter County, Texas, near the city of Amarillo.
